Classroom Spotlights

The Senior High Choir class is off to a great start this year. We started the year working on our intonation and unison singing. We were working hard to sound like one voice in the choir. Recently we have begun working hard at harmonies as we prepare for the Veteran's Day assembly in November. We started by singing simple rounds and then began singing more difficult parts as we progressed. The students also tried singing their parts in a circle, singing in a round we call it, so that they would be able to hear their own parts as well as the other parts in the choir. As we polish our performance we will begin focusing on dynamics and expression so that we can make our performance more interesting to the audience. These skills will help as we move forward and begin to start preparing our music for the upcoming winter concert in December.

7th grade math students have been looking at tables and graphs to see if they are proportional or non proportional. They are setting up rates and seeing if they all have a constant rate of change. They have done some in class activities in groups as well as homework to practice finding a constant rate of change and that led to their group project of using proportions to find a pencil thief. Students were in groups and they each got an envelope of clues. They had to decide what information was important and what was not before they set up proportions and solved for more information. Each clue would help them answer the next until they found out who stole the pencils. Teams did great problem solving and talking out the clues and their detective work led them to the thief!

In October, the focus was on perspective taking and respect in the classroom. Teachers encouraged students to express differing viewpoints while fostering empathy. Teachers were urged to create safe spaces in their classrooms for students to share opinions through activities like group discussions, physical positioning on topics, or class polls. Students were also taught that respectful engagement is also key, with organized debates, opinion sharing, and lessons on how to respond kindly to differing views. The hope is that students use these skills to have positive interactions with their peers.

Staff Member of the Month

Melissa Schall has made a tremendous impact on the students and staff at the Jr. / Sr. High School. Missi has built a highly rigorous and educational Science department that prepares and challenges students. Missi has worked very hard to help students achieve high levels of preparation for college and technical college programs. She has made changes to her curriculum to allow for dual credit options for students to obtain college credits while attending High School. She is an integral part of our Data Analysis committee, Academic and Career Planning committee, and Resilience is Key committee. She also is the National Honor Society advisor and a class advisor. She helped form and also coach the Youth Softball team. Her passion for students and Science is evident in her teaching and all she does. We are very fortunate to have her in our Science department and school.

Students of the Month

Each month the Jr. / Sr. High School staff select one student that exemplifies the Falcon Way and growth. The students and a description of why they were selected is presented each month to the school board.

Adalyn Raue possesses so many attributes that make us "Husty Proud". Whether she is on the soccer pitch, the wrestling mat, or in the classroom, Addy always puts forth maximum effort. Addy never gives up and is always trying to better herself. She is goal oriented and driven. Addy is an ideal role model for all students exhibiting the characteristics of hard work, determination, perseverance, and grit while being inviting and friendly to her classmates. Addy is a wonderful student, not only contributing to class discussions, but also making sure that all of her classmates around her feel included by offering help or guidance. We have enjoyed watching Addy grow into the young adult she is today and are sure that she will continue to make us proud while achieving her goals and aspirations.

Klaire Her has demonstrated an incredible effort in her classes this year. Klaire's dedication to her work and willingness to seek help when needed truly stands out. It's obvious that Klaire takes her education seriously, and her positive attitude is contagious in the classroom. She is setting a wonderful example for her peers. Klaire, your hard work is not going unnoticed.

Opportunity Recap

On September 26, Juniors and students in College 101 class attended the Wisconsin Education Fair on the UW-Oshkosh campus. The Wisconsin Education Fair is a gathering of over 40 colleges, universities, military and trades groups looking to help students chart their future career paths. Afterwards we toured the UW-Oshkosh campus and ate in the cafeteria which was a great time to mingle with other schools and the college community. On our way back to Hustisford we stopped at Moraine Park in Fond du Lac and toured their remodeled facility. Students were impressed with the new 3-D design center and automotive repair area.
